Hi John,

I wanted to run something by you without making a big federal case out of it! Our biggest concern with all of this is not being able to have unrestricted access to the ref, we did suggest moving the ref to another location and were told no and that we could use the ref with our co-workers lunch. When the deadbolt is installed do you think that it would be possible to move the ref to the area were the sinks are? I don't want to ask anything that is going to cause a big thing but thought maybe that might be an idea to keep everyone happy and have the room to the standards so to speak. I will be out Friday but Kate is in. We really appreciate all you have done to make this room functional.

Thanks,
Nicole
